

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A genome DNA analysis method and a genome DNA analysis system of the present invention generates 5 multiply-charged ions with 5 or more electric charges by an ionization process using air atomization. Also, a mass spectrometric spectrum thereof is detected and compared with predicted mass spectrum patterns in the presence or absence of polymorphism to determine a base at a 10 polymorphic point.